TURNER FELLOWS

The W. Burghardt Turner Fellowship is a Graduate Fellowship Student for eligible underrepresented students whose immediate academic plans include obtaining graduate or professional degrees in a variety of disciplines including the biological sciences, physical sciences, social sciences, medicine, humanities, engineering, and the arts. It is funded by the State University of New York’s Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion and referred to system wide as the Graduate Diversity Fellowship Student. At Stony Brook University the fellowship carries the name of the late Dr. W. Burghardt Turner, who taught in the Department of History at and was actively engaged with issues relating to academic access for underrepresented students on our campus and across Long Island.
